As Parliament was not in session and immediate action was required to be taken by the Central Government to implement the said order and to address the above objectives, the Ordinance namely, the Coal Mines (Special Provisions) Ordinance, 2014 was promulgated on 21.10.2014 under article 123 of the Constitution of India

In pursuance of the said Ordinance action has been initiated by the Central Government including the framing the rules for allocation of coal mines and it was considered necessary to give continuity to the provision of the said Ordinance and save the actions taken there under. Since, the Parliament was not in session and the said Ordinance would cease to operate w.e.f. 05.01.2015, the Coal Mines (Special Provisions) Second Ordinance, 2014 was promulgated on 26.12.2014.
